Wagner's "Magna Charta For American Labor" Now All Washed Up

WASHINGTON—The Wagner Labor Disputes Bill is finally.

Fiercely opposed by business interests, damned with faint praise by General Johnson, and safely shelved in committee by secretly hostile floor leaders, the measure, hailed in its introduction as the "Magna Charta for American labor," is all washed up.

The only remaining hope is that Senator Bob Wagner, its crusading author, can persuade the President to put his shoulder to the wheel.

Wagner publicly says he is confident the President will do so. Privately he is not so sure. To date the President has maintained tight-lipped silence on the measure. More than that, his auto labor peace settlement plan runs counter to the basic tenet of the Wagner bill—majority-union rule. Nor does it bar company unions which the Wagner measure would make practically impossible.

Wagner, fighting desperately to keep his bill above water, says he has prepared amendments that conciliate the President's plan with the provisions of his own. Unfortunately, it is Senator Bob who is just washing in the dark.

Brave Huey Escapes

The story of how New Orleans Mayor Walmsley—expert pugilist—bearded Kingfish King recently was front page news. But one thing which never hit the newspaper was how Huey finally escaped.

Walmsley had come to Washington for the avowed purpose of pummeling Huey because of some remarks the Kingfish had made; but he also was seeking CWA money for New Orleans.

Huey was nervous. For several days he had been ducking Walmsley, and the evasion was getting more and more difficult. On this particular morning it was already 11 o'clock, and Huey was still unable to get out of his room to reach the Senate.

At about 11:15 the phone in Walmsley's room rang, and a feminine voice asked:

"Mayor Walmsley?"

"Yes?"

"This is the office of CWA administrator Harry Hopkins. You wanted an appointment with him?"

"Yes, I did."

"Well, Mr. Hopkins asked me to call and say he'll see you if you can get here by 11:30."

Walmsley hurried over to Hopkins' office, asked if Mr. Hopkins was ready to see him yet. The young lady answered in surprise:

"Why, Mr. Hopkins went out of town last night. He won't be back for several days."

"Why did you call me over to see him at 11:30, then?" demanded the Mayor.

"I didn't call anybody," the girl replied. "Who are you?"

Back at the hotel, the Mayor began checking up. He called the telephone operator.

"You remember that call that I got about an hour ago?" he began. "Where did it come from?"

"Yes, I remember," replied the operator. "It came from Senator Long's apartment."

No Surprise

The new labor outbreak in the mortar industry was no surprise to insiders.

They forecast it a few hours after the terms of the President's strike settlement were published. Here is the chief reason:

Automobile production soon begins to fall off. The plants begin to lighten their payrolls. The only way for embattled union workers to make their weight felt is now when output is running high.

But Roosevelt's settlement calls for an administrative setup that even under the most suspicious circumstances requires time to set in motion. When, as is happening, the Arbitration Board, either by design or incompetence, takes twice as much time to get under way, it is inevitable that already suspicious workers should get restless.

The women were brought to Berger hospital in the Kirk ambulance. They are under the care of Drs. Courtwright and Kahler, the latter of New Holland.

Mrs. Fry's condition is critical. She is suffering from a fractured skull and her right arm will have to be amputated. Mrs. Stevens' injuries have not been determined although they, too, are believed serious.

The office of Superintendent E. L. Daley was also ransacked but nothing was stolen as far as could be learned.

Entrance was gained to the building through a rear window.

The attempted robbery was discovered by Janitor Steve Jones when he started to work Monday morning. Principal Gephart set Sunday night as the time of the robbery since he was in the building disturbed at that time.

One of them struck O'Brien over the head with a revolver, knocking him unconscious. Then they beat the girl and threw her and O'Brien into the car.

One of the negroes drove the car to an isolated spot east of the city, where they again beat the girl and stripped her of her clothes.

CITES GROVE CASE

One of those suspected of being a traitor are today's principals in Washington. The American Association and the Boston Sox. The latter have very little to be ready about, with Grove's 1000 arm supposedly ailing and likely for the corner. The Senators are being convicted on circumstantial evidence. They're really the same team that can't win in the last world series and sameness on the ball field is another word for weakness. However, the hot teams of the Yankees are supposed to be the Yankees and Cubs, thus presenting a case of just how consistent reasoning can be. The Yankees are being tipped by the fact that they have Klein and some of the Yankees because of the fact that the town square cheer leader. As a matter of fact, both clubs have around as long as the Senators.

tors — the Yankees as long, in fact, that some of them are beginning to grow blousy like an old soubrette. Rolfe, the shortstop, seems to be set. He hits well and is as fast as Chapman on the flat but there's still a question about Bieffner at second base and about Ruffing's ability to pitch as he did two years ago. So far, he's been in an out. He comes out. Gomez, by the way, seems to have come, completely back but McCarthy is talking about Uble and MacFayden as starting pitchers and there's not much assistance there. There will be even less from the old hands in the field when the ground begins to harden and the hot summer sun to exact its inevitable toll.

If that's the club the Senators have to beat. I don't really know why so many people seem to be losing their composure over the situation in Washington. The Senators could be something less than good and still win in a league like that. The situation with the world's champion Giants is a little more complicated. The Giants are not setting along with the new ball and, according to various accounts, Will Terry is not getting along with anybody. They say now that he and the reporters have become estranged, which is, to say the least, doubtful strategy. Mr. Terry has only two hours a day in which to present his side of the case but a reporter, when properly incited, will be in there presenting for the full twenty-four.

I can't get people to become as impressed as I am with the Cardinals and, oddly, for the same reason. They think that Frank Frisch is not popular enough with his players, though what could be less popular with a player than not getting $3,000 or $4,000 out of a world series I cannot imagine.

FARMERS TO PLAN SMALL ACREAGES

Reduce Corn, Wheat and Tobacco Sharply; Others Are Increased.

Farmers intend to plant this year about 6 per cent less crops than were planted in the years of 1928 through 1932. This figure, released by the United States Department of Agriculture, does not include the intentions of cotton farmers who plan sharp cuts in acreage.

Reports were from all over the United States, from 51,000 crop reporters.

Farmers intend to plant more oats, barley, grain sorghums, soybeans, cowpeas, hay and potatoes. They intend to plant less corn, wheat and tobacco, owing largely to the adjustment programs under way.

Corn producers intend to plant 10 million fewer acres. Ohioans planned a reduction of 13 per cent, and farmers of the corn-belt intend to reduce 18 per cent.

Acreage of oats in Ohio is expected to be the same as it was last year, which was 29 per cent less than the acreage harvested from 1928 to 1932. For the country as a whole, the oats acreage is expected to increase.

March intentions indicate that Ohio farmers would reduce their 1934 harvested barley acreage 41 per cent under that of 1933, but for the country the figures indicate a 17 per cent larger acreage.

Intended cigar filler acreage is 46 per cent under the acreage harvested in 1931 and 1932, before the AAA program was in effect.

He goes on the air on a national hook-up for 13 weeks, three times a week for which he receives $39,000. $1,000 more than he gets for playing the entire season of baseball. It is expected the programs will be dramatization of Ruth's career.

Howard White's efforts for good old Ohio Wesleyan went for naught Saturday with the rest of the Bishops failing to run out of their tracks with the result that Ohio Wesleyan copped a dual meet, 81-1-2 to 41-1-2 at Athens. All Howard did was win both hurdles events, take second in the broad jump, and third in the 100-yard dash.

He was outscored, however, by Bernard Newcombe, Bobcat ace, who won first in the 100-yard and 220-yard dash and in the broad jump registering 75 points. White had 14.

ITS a peculiar situation at Columbus where the Red Birds have five infielders with only four spots to fill. It looks very much like Johnny Hodapp, slugger deluxe, will ride the wood until something happens to one of the others. Myers, a rookie, is being given the edge at shortstop with Eddie Delker at third. The natural lineup, we think, would be Delker at short and Hodapp at third, but Myers will be at short when the season opens and he shows enough stuff to remain at the short field position. He's liked by the big bosses and that's what counts in the Cardinal farm. We'll say the Birds will be sorry if they don't use Hodapp every day somewhere in the lineup.

"A Bible and a Newspaper in every home"

—said Benjamin Franklin, whose death on April 17, 1790, we remember this week

IF YOU asked the founder of a great library system what reading matter you should place in your home, you might expect him to hand you a sizable list of books.

But old Ben Franklin, father of the free library system of our country, being a man to put first things first, might have looked over the top of his glasses at you, and repeated "a Bible and a newspaper in every home."

Franklin himself was Printer and Publisher . . . and an advertising writer. He recognized, as you do, that good advertising is NEWS. Back in 1780, when a ship came to port with a consignment of India shawls and some merchant announced this in the newspaper, you may imagine that that item meant more to the ladies of the day than the usual chronicle of somebody's cow "lost, strayed or stolen."

An editor gathers up the news from all corners of the globe, just as a merchant gathers up his stock of goods. Then the story of both is carried in the newspaper. Both mean a great deal to every reader.

YOUTHS ARE TRIED FOR TWO MURDERS

BABY KILLER UNDER OBSERVATION

Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, director of the Criminal Court Behavior Clinic in Chicago, is shown here with George Rogalski, 13-year-old boy, who lured 2-year-old Doretta Zietlow to her death. Dr. Hoffman's report on the boy will determine, to a large extent, the state's policy in dealing with the young killer.

DEDHAM, Mass., April 16.—Indifferently, almost insolently, three youthful alleged musketeers of crime go on trial today for ruthless murder.

They are Murton and Irving Millen, brothers, with their pal, Abe Faber. Ages respectively: 24, 21, 24.

Faber is an honor graduate of a college of technology.

There is a woman in the case, a young and pretty one.

She is 19-year-old Norma Brighton, daughter of a minister, devoted bride of Murton Millen.

There is another woman connected with the case, less glamorously. She is Rose Kneiler, also in her teens, sweetheart of Faber.

KILLED POLICEMEN

Among the 100 exhibits to figure in the murder trial will be two blood-stained uniforms of blue with machine gun bullet punctures.

They belong to the dead Policemen Forbes MacLeod and Frank O. Haddock, slain in cold blood while attempting to prevent the holdup of the Needham Trust company on Feb. 2.

This is more than a murder trial. It is traditional New England justice dealing with the modern era of crime which has warped certain of American youth.

It is cast in an appropriate setting. The elm-shaded town of Dedham is one of the cradle spots of American colonial history. It was settled in 1636.

And in the oak-paneled courthouse a few years ago was staged the trial of Niccolò Sacco and Bartholomew Vanzetti, charged with killing a paymaster during a robbery. The defense's claim that the defendants were being railroaded because of their radical beliefs, aroused international repercussions. They were convicted and electrocuted.

The trial of the Millen gang is also a battle between the electric chair and romance.

Norma Brighton, of the violet eyes, whom hard-boiled Murton called "Kitten," is still in love with her man. She goes on trial next charged with being an accessory after the fact, a charge in Massachusetts which may draw the penalty of the electric chair upon conviction.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

THIS here tale always tickled my fancy. It ain't the humor of it so much as the fact that it's darned correct.

A fellow who had been out in New Mexico and got broke and had to stay longer than he thought, only had about one lone dollar and he went into a Restaurant and the waiter came up to him and said, "Sage Hen." It was the main diet that day and he thought of course it would be taken by the customer. "What's sage hen?" asked the proprietor of the lone buck. "It's like Prairie Chicken. They kill it out among the sage brush. 'Haw it got wings?' asked the old boy that didn't crave New Mexico. "Yes," replied the Waiter. "Well, then, I don't want it. Anything that has got wings, and stays in New Mexico, I don't want to eat such a crazy thing."

seeking to modify the tariff bill, already passed by the house, which gives Mr. Roosevelt authority to negotiate new tariff agreements for three years. It probably will pass the senate in that form.

The senate also appeared ready to rebel on silver legislation. A group of Democrats, headed by Senators Wheeler, Montana, and Thomas, Oklahoma, demanded nationalization of silver and a huge silver purchasing program be included in the Dies bill. The President was reported opposed to both steps. The outcome was in doubt.

There was little opposition to extending the temporary bank guaranty for another year. The only real protest was that it did not go far enough. The bill's critics were demanding federal payments of all "frozen" deposits in closed banks—an act opposed by the President.

The stock exchange bill will furnish fireworks too. The President's "brain trust" advisers were opposed to the draft, now being written by the senate banking and currency committee, which creates a new commission to regulate the stock markets. They demanded this power be divided between the federal reserve board and the federal trade commission. The dispute will be settled on the floors of both houses.

The extent of this program forced administration leaders to abandon their plans for a May 15 adjournment. They now hope to congress homeward bound by June 1.

Dr. Leo Walman, A. F. of L. foe, as head of the Board, did not help. The Board, although in operation for weeks, still has handed down no decision on any worker's complaint, though there are hundreds pending.

Another disturbing factor is the Mechanics Educational Society of America.

Made up of some 16,000 skilled tool and die makers this organization holds a key position in the industry. Last year, 1933, as the seasonal production period was getting under way it struck, forced the startled employers to come to terms.

Leaders of the union are naturalized Englishmen with a British Labor Party background. They view A. F. of L. leadership with contempt and deep-rooted suspicion. Ever since the President's agreement, they have been telling the auto workers they were "sold out."

From the labor viewpoint events have been out this way.

Welman's board has done nothing. He issued an order prohibiting the union from a picketing on company property. But when the workers complained that the employers approached them during work hours to sign written agreements not to join outside unions, Wolman did not raise a finger.

Two Carlisle graduates, Chiefs Standing Bear and Thunder Bird, head the group of 300 Indians appearing with Richard Barthelmess in "Massacre," the first National picture now showing at the Grand Theatre.

The story of "Massacre" deals with a young brave who has graduated from Haskell, a similar institution. Both Standing Bear, of the Sioux, and Thunder Bird, of the Osage tribe, were much interested in this "angle."

STAR

THE BEST TIME TO
By E. FRANKLIN

Is there a best time to month or year to be born? Although many astrologers that birth coincident with moon menses good, but rather skeptical about the Sun and the Moon, are in conjunction at the new moon, were in opposition to Saturn or some other planet how could the person at that time expert to grow much of this world's goods, expending a suffering many appointments? The moon also would not be the best.

Another claim also put forth by some astrologers is that those born between sunrise and noon are exceptionally lucky. My experience disproves this also.

Lucky persons are born in each of the signs but the horoscopes of those fortunate persons usually show good aspects between Jupiter and Venus. Let us look at the first six months of the present year (1934) and note the days in which Jupiter and Venus were in good aspect and if you have children born on those days you can be sure that they will go through life in an easy manner if given half a chance. Here are the days:

January—The entire month, the best days being 5, 9, 14, 17, 20 and 26.

February—No aspect between Jupiter and Venus although Jupiter was in good aspect to the Sun or Moon on 6th, 8th, 9th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th and 21st.

March—4, 13, late 21, early 28.

April—Not many good days this month although the late 8th, early 9th, late 10th and 28th.

May—Not so much to say this month either although the best days will be the 6th, 25th, and probably the 28th.

June—From the 1st to 15th Jupiter is in good aspect to the Sun and in good aspect to Venus from the 16th to 28th. Fairly good earning power but not much ability to keep what is earned.

So much for the first six months of 1934 and parents of children born on the "lucky" days give them the best education possible that they may take advantage of their exceptional good fortune.

Watch Your Step

Don't put yesterday's range in tomorrow's house

When you select your new range, don't judge by old-fashioned standards. See an Electric Range before you buy. Progress has been made in kitchen ranges as well as in motor cars.

Watch your step. Before you decide on any range learn how the speed, economy and automatic operation of Hotpoint Electric Ranges release your time from cooking for other things.

Calrod, Hotpoint's new Hi-Speed Heating Coil, cooks with a clean, flameless electric heat which keeps pots, pans, walls and woodwork clean. Come in and see the beautifully styled Hotpoint Automatic Electric Ranges. You will find the range for tomorrow's kitchen here.
